

Brett Given, Orange Crush : Tuesday "Scorcher" Division

PDL Staff: You have now played most of the teams in the league, in your opinion, aside from Orange Crush, what team has improved the most with their offseason additions?

Brett: "The Ball Snatchers, those old guys have really stepped it up this season and it has nothing to do with their younger recruits and they're ability to play two games in a row."

PDL Staff: Many people have described your style of play as dynamic, thrilling, and exciting to watch, do you have any comment on this?

Brett: "Yup, I completely agree. Here's the deal I'm the best there is. Plain and simple. I mean I wake up in the morning and I piss excellence and nobody can hang with my stuff, you know im just a big hairy American winning machine. If you aint first, you're last"

PDL Staff: "Four weeks into the season and your team is really starting to come together, is there one strength in particular that you see propelling your team so far?"

Brett: "Our experience being in the league for multiple seasons has played a big role, we play great together since we all have known eachother previously, and you cant compete against matching socks."

PDL Staff: I have seen you out there before each game and it appears like you are in 'The Zone' how do you get mentally prepared like that?

Brett: "Asides from being born to dodgeball, I like to start off with a refressing six pack to help hydrate, keep me focused, and to shake the nerves. Then show up early for a free-fire warmup with the team. Then just going out and giving hell to the other teams. Just your basic dodgeball strategy."
